External Links

This site contains links to third-party websites (external links). These websites are the sole responsibility of their respective operators. We can therefore assume no responsibility for their contents and data protection policies. We have, at the point at which the respective link was created, reviewed the external content to establish whether it presents any legal violations, at which time no legal violations were apparent. We have no influence on the current or future design or content of the linked pages. The use of external links means in no way that we claim ownership of the content being linked to. Moreover, we distance ourselves expressly from all illegal or offensive content. In the event that you are unexpectedly led to questionable content via our website, please notify us of this via the email address S2GW_comm@lp.gr. Constant supervision of our external links is held to be not reasonable without concrete evidence of legal violations. Such links will be deleted as soon as the SWITCH to Green Facility is made aware of them.

Data Protection

We process our users' personal data only to the extent required for providing a functional website and supplying our content and services. We process our users' personal data regularly only if the respective users have given their consent. The only exception to this is where it is actually impossible for us to obtain prior consent and processing of the data is legally allowed.
