

New Chatham House Briefing | The Circular Economy in Developing Countries

A Wider Circle? The Circular Economy in Developing Countries.

Lower-income countries are in many ways more 'circular' than their developed-economy counterparts – the question is how to turn this into a development opportunity.

Full publication here.